CHURCHES WILL HOLD SERVICES CHRISTMAS DAY

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS OF JANESVILLE WILL CELEBRATE THE NATIVITY

Special Song Services and Other Yule-Tide Ceremonies Will Mark Day of Peace and Good Will Toward Men.

Down through the centuries, since that memorable eve when shepherds in the fields near Bethlehem heard the angel of the heavenly host, the words,
"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men," have typified the spirit of a day, that,
to most men, is among the most cherished in the calendar of the church.
Around no other day in the year do happy memories gather so closely.
There is no other day when the Christian world by its action, so fully exemplifies the spirit of the heavenly song. The story of the Christ Child in the manger, the adoration of the three wise men and all the other incidents connected with the first Chris-mas, never lose their charm. It is a story that their heart alone can feel,
and, as in the past, it will continue to awaken an answering thrill in the breasts of all true men for all time to come.

Even in the modern times, when the battle of life rages as fiercely in the office and shop as it did in the battle field in the middle ages, the spirit of Christmas continues to grow in strength. Who is it that does not attempt to show the Christ spirit by gifts, either to those whom he loves or to the unknown sufferers whose need is voiced by the tinkling bell and iron pot on the street corner.

It is not by gifts alone that the world endeavors to fitly observe the day, for gifts symbolize simply a portion of the angel's words. In the house of God throughout the whole civilized world, Christians of every creed will gather to worship and praise. "Glory to God in the highest"
also has its meaning on Christmas.

This year on Saturday, fifteen religious organizations of Janesville, devoted to the spreading and teaching of the Word of God, will observe Christmas day in accordance with the tenets of their creeds. In all of them, however, no matter how widely they may differ in the matter of forms and ceremonies, the spirit will be the same and is expressed in the words that floated from the sky to the awestruck shepherds, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

CHRISTMAS IN CHINA

While America is making elaborate preparations for Christmas it is interesting to know how the day will be observed in China. The following from the American Board of Missions tells the story:

"From the Orient came the truth which gives significance to Christmas, is the time coming when we shall learn from eastern nations how to keep the essential idea of the season to the fore, and let gift-making occupy a secondary place? Dr. Percy T. Watson, a now medical missionary in Shanghai, China, was amazed to find that the native Christians, without any suggestion whatever from foreigners, plan to have a three days' meeting at the holiday season for distinctly religious purposes. Last year over a thousand gathered at his station in Poochow, some coming 80 miles on foot.

"They slept on the floor in the mission buildings, but, as Dr. Arthur Smith says, 'Position in sleep is of no sort of consequence. It would be easy to make in China an army of a million men—say, of ten millions—tested by competitive examination as to their capacity to go to sleep across three wheelbarrows, with head downwards, like a spider, their mouths wide open and a fly inside!'

"Another young worker in the Poochow field, Edward H. Smith, writes: 'You can think of us during the holidays going from one church to another, keeping with them the world's great birthday festival. Of course it will be in Chinese fashion, with fire-crackers, candles, Chinese pictures, palms and bamboos in all the churches, and the interminable, many-coursed feasts which we have not yet fully learned to enjoy. But there will be the same Christmas spirit, and that glad heart fellowship which we all can enjoy.'

THE COST OF LIVING

So much is said nowadays about the high cost of living, and so many explanations are offered, that the following from L. P. Dunne in the American Magazine is put and to the point:

"An' so it goes. I complain to the rent me landlord and he an' sometimes I succeed, as Hogan says, to his request. Me landlord complains to the way the plumber overcharges him. The plumber says he can't do any better than make a livin' on account of the rapacity of the plumber's union. The most prominent distinguished and wealthy member of the plumber's union borrows two dollars from me yesterday because he couldn't pay his bills. He says he's 'at the house' that he'd wrenched from his house for months' waste pipes.

"An' the strange thing about it is that it's always been thus in my recollection. An' I can remember almost as far back as to think of me as a little 'nert' to ye when we were buildin' the pyramids. Ye'll say the cost of livin' was never higher fr' ye an' we were right. Ye say it never was so high an' ye're wrong. It's always been the same fr' ye an' the likes of ye. I never know the day when ye weren't about the same number of jumps behind in the race with the price of eggs. When ye're not warrin' they're up. That's all there is to it. Ye're to blame, me boy, because a college professor in Harvard can't afford to buy himself a new hat. Ye've caused the boom in prices. When ye had less work ye also less an' wore out fewer clothes. When ye got a steady job ye raided the grocery store, the price of pork chops took a sudden leap an' when the professor at Harvard went down to the foreman an' got his pay check that had been ample while ye were unemployed he found he'd lyed enough in it to pay the butcher's bills. When ten million lyed the likes of ye gets twenty-five cents a day more pay there's just that much added to what it costs everybody to live.

"But what am I goin' to do about it?" said Mr. Hennessy.

"Some pollytiekal economists are in favor of ye're not eatin'," said Mr. Dooley. "I wud say stop wurkin' if it gives ye such an appetite."

VOTE FOR THE PLAN

Not the law but the plan is now the objection of the objectors to the commission form of government. Any thing to beat it. "Let some other city try it first," is now the slogan of the opposition. That's the thinnest kind of a thin argument.

Janesville happens to be the first city ready to vote on the proposition, which is perfectly natural, as it is the home town of the senator for whom the law is named. Local pride should be some inducement.

As an advertising proposition it presents an opportunity to place the city at the front in a way that can not fail to produce results.

But the local pride and advertising features are of secondary consideration as compared to a clean and wholesome business administration which is bound to follow.

The plan has everything to recommend it and no objectionable features worth considering. The verdict of all cities working under this system is a unit, so far as endorsement is concerned, and many cities are enthusiastic in its praise.

The smallest city to adopt it, in one of the western states, has a population of 3,500, and the largest is Boston. The system adapts itself to all conditions because it is sound in principle and practical in method.

Janesville has plenty of good men to serve as commissioners, and the time to adopt the plan is opportune, and should be improved. As the campaign progresses it is apparent that no clique or combination is backing the movement, while it is equally apparent that the opposition will bear watching.

The city has long suffered from strife and internal bickerings, which have rendered it impossible to unite on any proposition and work in harmony. Business, politics, the river, and private grievances have influenced action and retarded development.

Let's cut it all out for once, bury all the old implements of warfare, and unite for once on a movement to better the city and cement its forces.

This government by commission will do, because it removes many bones of contention, and places public interests on the broad plane of the most vital importance to the welfare of the city.

The insurgent congressmen are up in the air because the president declines to stir up trouble fast enough to suit them. They are home for the Christmas holidays with resentment bottled up because no opportunity has been furnished to create on their grievances. When they return they propose to take the government into their own hands, and show the president how to do things. What a busy time they will have.

The Cosmopolitan is the first much-raking magazine to attract government attention in a libel suit. There are others which need calling to time. Many magazine publishers have found daily on regulation. They ought to be colonized and transplanted to some desert island where they can practice running a government to their heart's content.

Adopt the commission form of government, and don't worry about the law. The law will take care of itself, but the plan abandoned may be difficult to resurrect. The city has lost repeatedly by not grasping opportunities, and can not afford to let this one pass. It is an old saying that the Lord hates a coward. Why shouldn't He?

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER By WALT MASON (Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

I have heard of Halley's comet and the tail protruding from it, and I surely is a hummer if the things I read are true; through the distant airy spaces it is straining to reach its destination at the hour when it is due. All the scientists, in chorus, say the blundering thing's headed for us, by some strange, unknown attraction to our little world it's drawn; if it falls against this planet we won't have much time to seek it—we'll be cooked and turned to ashies ere we know what's going on. It will, in a festive manner, swing its tail, like some huge banner, over the surface of this globe, and there'll be a ghastly thud; this old world will fly to pieces like a flock of frightened geese, and we cannot save the fragments, and our names will all be mud. In this world of rush and hurry men are given much to worry, over things not worth the trouble, over griefs that do not pay; now we have a chance to borrow something genuine in sorrow—let us worry o'er this comet, starting on the job today! Other woes, in cultured phrases we shall ask to go to blazes, we are sweating over Halley and his comet with its tail! Let us all be, ungloriously, let us, talk of might but Halley, let us show this melody comet how a people doomed can wall!

"Whether thy work be fine or coarse, planting corn or writing epics, so only it be honest work, done to thine own approbation, it shall earn a reward to the senses as well as to the thought; no matter how often defeated, you are born to victory. The reward of a thing well done is to have done it."—Emerson.

Raphael's Simple Diet.
Raphael considered that a meat diet was not good for a painter, and therefore lived principally on dried fruits, such as figs and raisins, with bread.

Buffalo Bill

Wrote a short time ago this letter:

En Route.
My Dear Parker:—I am writing this with one of your Jack Knife Safety Pens. Everybody should have one of these pens—they are just as good and so much easier to carry than the regular style.

Yours truly,
COL. W. T. CODY.
(Buffalo Bill).

You personally might not like the Parker Jack Knife Safety, but Buffalo Bill and many thousands of others do who want all quality and pen, and no fancy trimmings.

It may seem funny to you but it can actually be carried in the pants pocket along with your Jack Knife—and not leak.

Ladies can and do carelessly throw the PARKER JACK KNIFE in a shopping bag ready to use when wanted—and it will not leak.

Any wonder that this pen has caught onto the public fancy so strong that with difficulty the demand has been supplied?

All Janesville dealers sell them as well as 13,000 other dealers in all parts of the world.

As a Christmas present for Teacher, Mother, Sweetheart or Sister it is simply ideal.

As for the School Boy he knows. Say "Jack Knife Safety" to him if you want to see his eyes sparkle.

A Question Answered

"Are you the man who pulls teeth without PAIN?" asked a lady recently. She had come a long way and was suffering greatly.

"Try me and see," I answered. After I had extracted the offending tooth, she exclaimed:

"Why! That didn't hurt a bit. I have been hurt awfully before, every time I had a tooth pulled. I should think you would have the whole town up here. I shall come to you sure, next time."

That is the way it goes every day in my office.

I am certainly "dellivring the goods" in Painless Dentistry.

Officer Peter Champion performed the execution back of the city hall.

The Epitaph Deserved.

"She remained at home and spun wool" is the inscription over the grave of a Roman woman and many another woman is bravely doing the task, performing her duty with the same fullness that characterizes the soldier destined to either lead or follow. Fortunately the poor spinners are so constituted that they would do naught else by choice.

MOST people like good saus-

Ours is made right here in Janes-

SCHOOL CHILDREN SOLD MANY STAMPS

Over Fifteen Thousand Anti-Tuberculosis Christmas Stickers Disposed of by Students.

Fifty thousand two hundred and ninety-four Christmas stamps were sold by the students in the Janesville public schools to aid in the fight which is being waged in this state against the dreaded white plague, and the $152.94 which they secured in this manner has been turned in to the office of the money to be sent with the rest of the money to the headquarters of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in Milwaukee. The children have been most enthusiastic in their efforts to sell the stamps and their endeavors have been fruitful.

THE WITCHERY of KODAK

Head the Christmas List With a KODAK

Choose a Kodak

When people want a camera, they want a Kodak. And this last year happily emphasizes it as an ideal
Christmas present.

Whoever thought of taking a picture, except a professional,
before the kodak came.
The kodak has become a common pastime of
the business man as well as the pleasure
seeker and the young people. We take the kodak everywhere—out camping and on our tramps and travels. It takes perfect portraits with the portrait attachment.

The kodak now has
a practical use as well.
Farmers and business men are commencing to use it as an aid in selling, for horses, sheep, cattle, pigs and poultry are sold by photograph nowadays.

No. 3A Folding Pocket
Kodak size of pictures
3 1/4 x 5 1/2. Price $20.00.

Folding Pocket Kodaks

The Nos. 3 and 4 and 3A and 4A Folding Pocket
Kodaks are remarkably popular kodaks. The No.
3A makes negatives just the right size for post cards. It is a wonderfully equipped instrument, taking moving or stationary objects with the greatest nicety and can be efficiently handled by the merest novice. With a portrait attachment costing but 50c, it takes a large size bust portrait. This kodak and the others mentioned, differing only in finish, size and speed of lens and shutter, are the ones most commonly purchased.
The price ranges according to equipment from

$17.50 to $35.00

NO. 1A FOLDING POCKET KODAK SPECIAL

This camera was first put out in the spring of 1908. Never so much quality put into so small a camera. It combines the simplicity of No. 1A with the high grade lens and shutter. Size 8x2 1/4 inches.
Weight 13 ounces. Price from

$15.00 to $20.00

Brownie No. 2

These Brownie Cameras are so very cheap that they seem like a plaything for the children.
But even at that, they are a perfect camera.

In operation they are absolutely simple; are very easy to load, and will carry six exposures.
This little camera, while very cheap, covers the whole field of picture making.

You are not throwing your money away by getting the children one for Christmas. They will take any pictures you may want to take.

No. 2 Brownie $2.00

Yield of a Good Beef Steer.
A good steer properly and at the same time profitably cut up will yield the following percentages of dressed weight, given in round numbers so as to be more easily memorized: Loin, 15 per cent.; ribs, 10 per cent.; rounds, 21 per cent.; chucks, 19 per cent.; rounds, 21 per cent.; chucks, 19 per cent.; plates, 10 per cent.; flanks, 4 per cent.; shanks, 7 per cent.; tallow, 3 per cent.; kidneys, 25 per cent.; sausage meat, 1 per cent.; shank meat, 1.50 per cent.; tuskage, 2 per cent.; loss in cutting, .25 per cent.—National Provisioner.

Would Rather Remain Vacant.
A little girl, aged four, whose father had houses for rent, heard some ladies who were calling on her mamma talking about an acquaintance who had made an unfortunate marriage. During a momentary pause in their conversation, the little lady said: "If I had been that lady who married that bad man, I should wish I had remained vacant!"—Illustrated Magazine.

I Do the Best I Can.
I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.—Abraham Lincoln.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THAT wealthy people should have the peculiar privilege of procuring their divorce decrees behind a screen of bank notes and gold dollars is obviously unjust.

Public opinion seems to have been aroused by the scaled verdict in the Astor case and I think some action towards equalizing the divorce privileges of the rich and poor will be taken sooner or later.

But the question is—whether way shall the equalization be brought about? Will the poor be given this privilege of secrecy or will it be taken away from the rich?

A friend of mine asked me to write a Chit-Chat saying that it would be a good thing if all divorce proceedings could be carried on the way the Astors were.

"I can't," I said, "for I don't think so."

I believe in publicity. I believe that the fear of publicity is one of the most wholesome preventatives of crime—almost as efficacious as the fear of legal punishment.

I believe if there were no such publicity as there now is about the getting of divorces that many people who, fearing to have their marital difficulties shown up, now manage to compromise them would then "agree to disagree."

Publicity is like a caustic.

The caustic pains the part to which it is applied but is apt to be healthy for the whole body.

Publicity is painful for the individual to which it is applied but is apt to be healthy for the body politic.

People talk a great deal about the terrible way in which the newspapers exploit scandals.

"It isn't possible to be safe from these yellow journals," they say.

They are wrong.

There is one perfectly good way of keeping out of the yellow journals and that is never to get into any scandals that they will care to exploit.

I shall never forget a little incident that came to my notice when I was a very young newspaper woman.

"Do you see that man who's just going out?" the city editor asked me. I looked and admitted that I did see a pair of rather shabby shoulders retreating through the door of the city room.

"That man," continued the editor, "came in here to try to get his divorce proceedings kept out of the paper."

"There was some unusually disagreeable testimony this afternoon. His wife told how he got drunk and did things no decent man would do, and he wants that testimony hushed up."

"I asked him if there was any special reason why we should keep his case out any more than anyone's, and he said because of his mother, that it would break her heart."

My sympathies were aroused at that. "And what did you tell him?" I asked eagerly.

"I told him," answered the editor, "that he should have thought of his mother's heart when he was getting drunk."

Even while I rebelled at the cruelty of that I admitted its justice.

No, I certainly do not think it would be a good thing if divorces could be procured quietly. I think it would be a very dangerous one.

Everyone admits that fear of the searchlight of publicity helps to prevent political crime.

Why not marital?

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS.

Little Gifts Made by Little Folks.

Pen-wipers and pin cases are among the easy small gifts. A child should not be allowed to undertake too much, as an unfinished gift is usually the result and much discomfort for the small worker.

Pen-wiper of Leather in Cut Work.

Any color may be chosen. Good leather is the prettiest and most used. A circle of brown leather with the lining of green silk and the underlying rounds of either white or brown flannel would be pretty. Black leather combined with scarlet is a bright and cheery bit of color on the desk. If the one for whom the gift is intended has a prevailing color in the various articles she uses, take the time and care to make your gift harmonize. Tie a ribbon of the same

The small figures may be worked in eyelid work and the underlying cloth will make the spots show very prettily. The under-leaves are of thin, fine wood goods and should have the edges picked with the scissors in tiny points. The bands around the body of the butterfly should go completely around all the leaves and may be of gold thread.

A Heart-Shaped Pin Case.

Two heart-shaped pieces of cardboard are used for this case. Cover them smoothly with gaily flowered silk, or if plain is used the slides may be embroidered. Whip the two pieces together along the edges with either very fine stitches not to show or with cross stitches to form part of the design. Tie with ribbon at the top and stick pins around the edge, taking care that they are very evenly placed so as to add to the beauty of the gift.

SENATOR M'LAURIN OF MISSISSIPPI DEAD

Was Well Known Throughout South as One of Its Strongest Defenders.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 22.—United States Senator A. J. McLaurin expired suddenly from an attack of heart trouble at his home in Brandon, Miss., at the age of 61 years. Death came without the slightest warning.

When the fatal stroke came upon him Senator McLaurin was seated in a rocking chair in front of the fireplace in his library. He suddenly fell forward without speaking a word, and life was extinct when members of his family reached his side.

Senator McLaurin was 61 years old. In the senate chamber he was known as one of the strongest defenders of the south, though not as radical as some. He believed in the south, her resources and her future and he never failed to rise to her defense when she was assailed.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—The United States Life Endowment Company gained a victory when Judge Dupuy, instructed the jury to find in favor of the company in the proceedings instituted by Fred W. Potter, state insurance superintendent, who charged that the company was insolvent.

Potter's application for a receiver was denied and the court held that the company should continue in business.

This work must be performed day after day without fuss and fumc and without smoke.

PERFECTION Oil Heater

No other oil heater in the world has attained the high heat efficiency and the sure smokeless performance reached by this splendid achievement of modern science.

Turn the wick up as high as it will go—there's no smoke—as low as you please, there's no smoke—no fuss.

In raising, the wick is checked before it reaches the point at which it would smoke, by the new, quickly-removed

The flame is at its zenith of power, when the wick is locked, thus getting the heater's full capacity.

The heat is as clean as that which comes from a steam radiator—and more certain. You may have it just where you want it—beside the window—in the library—in the bath room or in the living room. Brass front holds a quart of oil—burns 9 hours. Finished in nickel or Japan. Various styles and finishes. Damper top—cool handle—aluminum window frame.

The Island of Regeneration

By Cyrus Townsend Brady

To him forgiveness was his natural and inevitable as breathing. In his ethics, there was no other course. He had never had anything to forgive. He remembered. She was not so true to her standards as the man she had laughed. The pupil was more devoted than the master.

Stood Silently, a Little Apart, Watching the Swift Approach.

"There are some things," she replied bitterly, "that a woman cannot forgive, never forgive."

"What things?" he persisted, wondering ignorantly as to her meaning.

"Don't ask me," she answered, impatiently. "I told you I would tell you the story to-day and you will have to wait until then."

"But that comment of the world?"

"You will hear it from that man's lips, if I mistake not," said the woman, wearily, "but you must press me no further. See, they are close to the reef. We must hasten."

She drew her hand away from his and ran rapidly to the beach. Naturally he followed, overtaking her in a few swift steps and running as was his wont by her side. If he had stopped to indulge in the luxury of self-examination, he would have found his feelings in such a turmoil of such strange emotions as would have defied classification and description. Of but two things was he very clear: that he loved this woman, and that in some way, for causes unfathomable and not present to him, he hated the man or the men in the boat off shore.

By the woman's directions just before they reached the shore, the man the way rapidly across the beach out of earshot but not out of sight among the trees.

"Now," he said turning and facing the other two.

He noticed that the woman was ghastly white and that Langford was scarcely less pale.

"Sir," said Langford firmly, "I decline to answer your question. I have business with this lady and with her alone. It does not concern you and I beg you to withdraw for a moment and give me free speech with her. After that I may have some questions to put to you."

"Everything that concerns her concerns me," said the man, sternly. "What you have to say to her must be said to me. Speak on."

For a moment Langford looked as if he would have sprung upon the other, but he was so clearly no match for the wild stranger that discretion came to his aid and kept him still. Besides he had no wish for vulgar brawling then. He turned to the woman.

"Katherine," he said, "I have much to say to you. Can't you make this man hear reason?"

"She has made me hear reason for three years," answered the man for her before she could speak, "but her power ends in this hour."

The woman looked at him piteously and nodded her head. She realized that the thread of destiny was taken from her hands and forever.

"Mr. Langford, you will have to say to me whatever you wish before this man," she said at last.

"Why, 'tis impossible," cried the other.

"It must be,"

"And," interposed the man, "you shall say nothing to her until you have answered my questions."

"There must be no violence," cried the woman, stepping between the two. "No violence!"

For answer the man gently, but with irresistible force, lifted her out of the way. She knew now where she got the strength to tear down the rocky wall, and while she trembled, she thrilled.

"Katherine," said Langford—to do him justice he was not afraid—"what is this man to you?"

"I am nothing to her," answered the man, "except that I love her."

"And you?" said Langford, hotly, still addressing the woman.

"She loves me," again answered the other, "and we were happy until you brought the world to our shores. Since then she has wept. Look at her now."

"My God," exclaimed Langford, "is it possible?"

"It is true," said the woman, finding voice at last and looking steadily from one to the other.

Langford's emotion now passed all bounds. He had trembled before; he shook now as if with the palsy. He reached out and caught the trunk of one of the trees to steady himself.

"What are you to this man, in God's name?" he cried.

"Nothing. Ever since I fled from the ship on that hateful night and landed on this island, we have been friends, good friends. He was a castaway. He had forgotten his speech. He had lived here since he was a child. I taught him everything."

"To love you?" queried Langford in hot and bitter jealousy.

"That was one thing I learned myself," answered the man. "And yesterday, you might call it chance, but I call it God," said the man gravely, "discovered to us the love we bore each other and that is all."

"Are you—forgive me the question," said Langford, addressing the woman, and there was agony in his voice, "as you were when I left you?"

"I am a different woman, thank God!"

"Different?"

"Yes, but in the sense in which you mean the question, I am just as I was, save that I love this man."

"But you had no right to love him or any one," burst forth Langford bitterly.

"And do you reproach me with that?"

"Do I?"

"Think of your wife."

"She's dead," said the man hoarsely. "I have searched the world for you. I have come back here to make amends, to own my fault, to marry you before God and man, to take you back, to do for you as long as I shall live all that a man can do."

"There was such genuine passion in his voice and in his appeal that the most inimical and indifferent would have recognized it, but there was no response to it in the woman's heart. A greater love than his had come into her soul. The whole current of her being flowed to the man by her side."

"No," she said. "Your words have no appeal for me. They awaken no response in my heart. I love this man, not you."

"Have you thought," cried Langford meaningly, "that you are not free to love any one but me?"

"By heaven!" cried the man springing forward, "this time I will be answered. Why, is she not free to love me or any one?"

"Because," said the other resolutely, "before she came into your life she belonged to me."

"Belonged to you?"

"Yes, to me."

"And by what tie?"

Langford hesitated. He was furiously wrought up. He saw that it was necessary to make a break, a rupture between these two. He thought that if he could do so, his own suit might be the better for it. He was in deadly earnest and therefore he took the risk. How frightful it was, he had no preconception. He did not understand that he was dealing with a primitive man. How should he? He did not understand what passions slept beneath the surface. And perhaps if he picked up two fallen branches of palm. They ran to the beach opposite the entrance and waved the palm branches above their heads. It was too far for the voice to carry and there was too much noise from the breakers on the reef if the distance had been shorter. But the men in the boat evidently caught sight of the signals and understood them, for she was presently about and in a few moments they saw her row out the blue waters of the lagoon through the one entrance to the barrier. The man and woman stood silently, a little apart, watching the swift approach. Unhappily, the boat struck the gently shelving beach bows on, and a last sturdy pull drove her fairly out of the water. The man in the stern sheets rose, stepped forward between the oarsmen and leaped out on the sand.

The present was in touch with the past, conventional faced the unconventional, civilization and primitive confronted one another.

RADICALLY NEW FIRE-ESCAPE

Impelled People Can Slide Down Inclined Planes to Safety Without Fear of Injury.

Something radically new in the way of fire escapes has been designed by a North Dakota man. In the place of the well-known iron stairways and rope ladders, this invention provides a series of inclined planes, slanted at opposite directions to each other and forming a sort of double back action chute which sends the people using it swiftly to the street. The illustration gives a good idea of the appearance and arrangement of the new fire escape.

Quicker Than Old Method.

The material between the parallel bars is of some yielding material which will be sufficiently depressed by the weight of a human body to form a sort of gutter and prevent the people using the escape from falling over the edge. This material, of course, is fire proof. When flames are discovered the people in the building climb out the windows and slide down the outward projecting slope to the incline pointing toward the building. This drops them to the next downward going lane and so on until they reach the street, the whole occupying only a few seconds.

Disinfecting Schoolrooms.

In the course of a report on the disinfection of schoolrooms W. H. Marsh, an English science teacher, asserts that tests made of samples of schoolroom dust showed the number of micro-organisms therein to be from 50,000,000 to 50,000,000 an ounce. On some days as much as one and one-quarter pounds of dust was swept from a room 400 square feet in area, which, on the basis of the figures quoted, would yield from 1,000,000,000 to 1,000,000,000 micro-organisms.

NEW PRODUCT IS VALUABLE

Resin It Well Adapted for Impregnating Porous Substances to Render Waterproof.

Resin It, a new product, is described by H. Lebach, a German, as similar to glass, celluloid, and hard rubber, but superior to these and other substances for many uses. It seems to be adapted to a great variety of purposes. It differs from shellac and other natural resins, as well as from various artificial resins prepared from phenols and aldehydes, in being slow burning, infusible, insoluble, and unaffected by acids and alkalis. A mixture of crystallized carbolic acid and a 40 per cent. solution of formaldehyde is heated with potash, soda, or other alkali or neutral salt. The product is a yellowish, mobile liquid, which is an impure resin with much water, and is adapted for impregnating porous substances, like wood and paper, to render them hard and waterproof. Dissolving the water leaves a viscous liquid of many possible applications. When the thick liquid is heated for a certain time to 175 degrees Fahrenheit, and then to about 400 degrees, it is changed to a glossy, vitreous solid, which is pure resin—it is red, brown or yellow in color, transparent or translucent, and having a conchoidal fracture. It can be dyed and cut, turned and polished. Its great hardness and slight brittleness are limited for some purposes, but a more elastic and easily worked material can be had by simply mixing the pure resin with kieselguhr, talcum, or other filler.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

SCIENCE NOTES.

Nineteen states have naval militia. Bombs first came into use in 1634. A ton of water contains 224 gallons.

Among the suicides, men predominate.

Germany's four super-dreadnaughts will each have a crew of 1,000 men.

Nitrogen iodide is so sensitive that the touch of a fly's foot would explode it.

The use of barges in the coastwise trade is increasing enormously.

There is one mill in Minneapolis which turns out between 17,000 and 18,000 barrels of flour each day.

The Mexican seismograph records a slight shock ten minutes before the destructive earthquake. An efficient alarm system could have saved many people in that time.

According to the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, 34 per cent. of the cattle of the United States are afflicted with tuberculosis.

The largest volcanic crater in the world is that of Auanan, in southern Japan. It measures 14 miles across one way and more than ten the other.

The emoluments of the officers of the French Academy of Sciences were fixed by Napoleon Bonaparte and have not been changed since that time.

Brazil's budget for this year includes an appropriation of over $50,000 to aid various institutions which are fighting the spread of tuberculosis in that country.

In proportion to its area, Maine is the best supplied with surface water of any of the states, having a square mile of lake to every 14.3 square miles of land.

The Brazilian government is about to establish at Rio de Janeiro a zootechnical and agricultural institute to be devoted to the study of stock-raising and agricultural experiments.

SCHELEY BACKS COOK

RETIRED REAR ADMIRAL EX-PRESSES CONFIDENCE IN RE-PUDIATED EXPLORER.

ASKS PEARY SUBMIT PROOFS

Two Eskimo Business Men Make Statement Discrediting Doctor's Story That They Accompanied Him to North Pole.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Reaffirming his complete confidence in Dr. Cook, Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, retired, called publicly upon Commander Peary to submit his proofs that he reached the north pole to some reliable body other than the National Geographic society.

"This, the admiral declares, should be done at once in the interests of justice and to establish beyond question the claims of Peary."

The admiral believes that the same body which threw out and repudiated Cook's data should be permitted to pass upon the data submitted by Peary to the Geographic society.

Peary to Try for South Pole.

New York, Dec. 23.—Commander Peary very strongly intimated in a speech at the banquet of the New England society that the expedition which he led successfully to the north pole might also try for the south pole. He did not commit himself definitely as to his share in such an expedition.

Excludes Issue Statement.

Elmhurst, Dec. 23 (By Submarine Wireless).—The news of what has happened in Cook arrived here and caused a profound sensation. Messrs. Elmhurst and Ahlstrom, who ran the Elmhurst New York store, and who said by Dr. Cook to have accompanied him to the goal of all arctic explorers, came out with a statement in the Elmhurst Tribune, in which they declare the doctor simply went on an afternoon walk with them to North Elmhurst, a suburb of this city, called in local parlance "the North Pole."

Was Gumdrops. The proprietor of the Grand Hotel Aurora Borealis said that Dr. Cook lived at his hotel from April 21, 1908, until far along in 1909, when the proprietor at last ventured to hand the explorer a bill for board and lodging aggregating three tons of gumdrops. When the doctor remarked that he was practically gumdropless, his host was about to hale him before the Elmhurst court. But the doctor said it allowed to go back to civilization, he would claim to have discovered the north pole and got enough money from a lecture tour of the United States to pay his hotel bill.

An expedition of leading citizens of Elmhurst went out to the rock in the suburbs of the city, under which Dr. Cook claims to have buried his instruments. There they found a note signed by Dr. Cook stating that Commander Peary has pushed the stone several hundred feet from its original whereabouts, so that the instruments were lost forever, but adding that it would take more than that to fool the University of Copenhagen.

FOUR HURT IN FLYER WRECK

Milwaukee Passenger Train Hits Detached Freight Car.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Collision with a heavily loaded freight car derailed the south-bound Milwaukee flyer on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad north of Waukegan last night, while it was going at the rate of 60 miles an hour.

Four persons were injured, one probably fatally, several cars were wrecked, scores of passengers were thrown into a panic.

The absence of the brass journals, supposed to have been stolen from the trucks of the freight car, caused the car to break out of a north-bound freight train and plunge onto the track of the flyer. Efforts were made to flag the passenger train, but there was no time, and the engine crashed into the freight car.

Pleads for Checks to Evils.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Universal laws that will direct and control the operations of trusts, prevent collusion in divorces and stamp out graft and give to the entire people the protection for which the constitution of the United States was framed, was advocated in an address given by former Gov. Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, at the annual forefather's day dinner of the New England Society of Chicago.

Arrests Spill Honeymoon.

Bluefield, W. Va., Dec. 23.—Returning home from their wedding trip, Mollie Cremons, aged 60, and her boy-husband, aged 18, were arrested and lodged in the county jail. The aged bride is charged with bigamy and the husband is charged with perjury.

Alligator in Church.

The alligators are getting bad at Greenville, S. C., and are even taking the pools of the Baptist churches as places of refuge. A five-foot alligator was found in the pool of the Baptist church. The saurian was discovered by a plumber who was in the pool for the purpose of repairing a leak, and he was scared out of a year's growth, as well as out of the water.

Gipsy Cave Dwellers.

The gipsies of Granddora, Spain, are unique among the race as cave dwellers, living in recesses hollowed out of a hillside not far from the city.

MURDER AND SUICIDE CAUSED BY JEALOUSY

Husband Kills Man, Wife and Mother-in-Law, Then Turns Weapon Upon Self.

London, Ky., Dec. 23.—William Murray, a miner 35 years old, shot and killed Elbert Cole, Mrs. Murray and the latter's mother, at Pittsburg, a mining village in this county, and then turning the weapon upon himself, blew his brains out.

Panfully estrangements, said to have been due to Murray's objections to the alleged attentions of Cole toward Mrs. Murray, are given as the cause of Murray's act.

Cole, who was a son of Assistant Mine Inspector Perry C. Cole, was 22 years old, and the manager of a general store in Pittsburg.

INDICT THREE IN SNEAD CASE

Three Mysterious Wardlaw Sisters Are Charged with Murder.

New York, Dec. 23.—The three mysterious Wardlaw sisters must face trial in Essex county, New Jersey, all charged with the murder of Okey W. M. Snead, the East Orange bathtub victim. The grand jury reported that two indictments had been found against all three.

One indictment charges each of the sisters with being the principal in causing Mrs. Snead's death by drowning, and charges each sister also with being an accessory. The other indictment charges the three sisters collectively with causing Mrs. Snead "to commit self-murder."

$200,000 Whisky Fire.

Cincinnati, Dec. 23.—A fire which for several hours threatened the destruction of an entire block in the heart of the city's business center last night, destroyed the five-story whisky warehouse of Sol and Sig Friedberg and the $225,000 stock of whisky valued at $125,000. The entire loss is estimated at more than $200,000.

Declares Mission a Success.

New York, Dec. 23.—"My mission here has been very successful," says T. P. O'Connor, M. P., as he was sailing on the steamer Mauretania after several weeks spent in this country to collect funds for the promotion of the Irish parliamentary party's interests. Mr. O'Connor said that he had already forwarded some $40,000 to Ireland.

Do You Get Up

With a Lame Back?

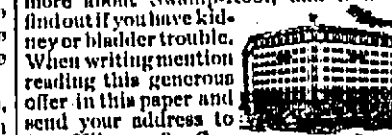

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties.

Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., 110 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root is sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. A Book for a Meal.

Sir Gilbert Parker recommends a simple method whereby one may possess the books one would like to possess. "I have often said to myself," he remarked to a London audience, "I cannot afford to buy that book. And I have said again: 'My dear fellow, if you will wait for one day you can buy three of them.' It is a book for a meal."

Real Fountain of Youth.

The Real is a small British island near St. Kitts, as round as your hat and consisting of one lofty mountain peak and a lovely shell road, some celebrated ruins and the finest mineral springs—real, hot, rotten-smelling sulphur water, brought from the mountain top in a stone conduit. A few baths in this water, at 103 or 104 degrees will renew your youthful vigor.

Different Zones.

While giving a geography lesson, a teacher called upon a precocious youngster named Johnny to tell what he could about "zones." Johnny responded as follows: "There are two kinds of zones, masculine zones and feminine zones, while the feminine zones are both horrid and frightful."—Lippincott's.

A Good PIPE Is a Good Gift

Make a smokers heart glad by giving him a good pipe.

I don't talk about pipes that are cheap, but about good pipes that at my prices no one can match.

My pipes are recommended solely on account of the quality each pipe represents.
